The General Assembly concluded business this session two days ahead of the official deadline. I am happy to report that we were successful in providing funding for education and job creation, two of our highest priorities. I am also pleased that we produced a budget without raising taxes. The highlights of HEA 1001, the 2003-05 budget bill, are certainly the bold economic development package and the funding increases for public schools and our state universities. However, I am concerned about the lack of new funding for Indiana's Medicaid program in the budget.

This was a most difficult budget to put together, and because of the projected $800 million deficit, this budget borrows from some state funds and makes significant cuts in others. State governments across the nation are facing the worst fiscal crisis since World War II. Due to this crisis, nearly half of the fifty states have implemented or are considering mass teacher layoffs, increased class sizes, shorter school years, and four-day school weeks.

Here in Indiana, the new budget provides more than $495 million for our schools, representing a statewide average increase in regular funding of 1.6% in 2004 and 1.7% for 2005. Including the new state remediation grant and transfers of state pension and local capital projects fund dollars, these increases are 3.3% and 2.9% respectively. However, these modest increases were funded in part by flat lining corrections and Medicaid funding.

It is the potential shortfall in Medicaid funding that causes me great concern. By 2005, over 800,000 Hoosiers will depend on this critical safety-net program for health care, and flat lining the appropriation jeopardizes many vital services. Governor O'Bannon already implemented a successful cost containment plan that saved over $250 million, and this plan will save taxpayers another $350 million in the current biennium. Although I applaud these efforts, as we need to control our expenses during these difficult economic times, I am disappointed that the budget does this at the expense of those served by Medicaid.

It will take drastic reductions in payments to health care providers (most of whom are already under-compensated by Medicaid rates), further restrictions on eligibility, or cuts in optional programs like prescription drugs to meet the spending levels called for in HEA 1001. I think such measures will go too far and turn back the progress we've made in health care coverage for our neediest citizens. Given that this program is an entitlement and the state must pay for services rendered, we may be forced to address budgetary matters again next session.

Please feel free to contact me if I can provide assistance with issues pertaining to state government. I hope you and your family have a safe and enjoyable summer!

Looking to the future with economic development legislation

Several key economic development measures passed this legislative session. Spearheaded by Governor O'Bannon's Energize Indiana plan, Democratic and Republican caucuses worked together to improve the original plan and assembled the final package approved by the General Assembly. Many noteworthy programs and economic development tools will soon be implemented.

Long-term and comprehensive economic development plans are included in the plan to move Indiana on the path to prosperity. Funding the 21st Century Fund and certified technology parks, extending the research and development tax credit, and implementing new tax credits for investment, biodiesel and ethanol production will encourage new jobs and investment in the high-tech sector. All jobs are high-tech in today's world, and these programs reflect this reality. From biomedical research to the local corner store owner selling Hoosier goods across the globe via the internet, Indiana needs to encourage the continuous integration of technology into all business sectors.

Another key to economic revitalization is the immediate creation of jobs. Traditional infrastructure improvements and construction projects included in the biennial budget support long-term Indiana business needs while creating jobs that can be realized today. For example, the budget authorizes the construction of university research facilities and community college buildings, serving the joint purpose of creating new jobs now and improving the facilities of Indiana's colleges and universities for the education and training of Hoosier workers.

While building for the future progress of Indiana, it is important to recognize that many Hoosier workers are looking for immediate relief. To help unemployed Hoosiers now, the General Assembly allocated federal dollars to provide skill assessment tests for Hoosier workers, increase unemployment benefits, fund local WorkOne offices, and modernize the state unemployment system to ensure that unemployment assistance reaches Hoosiers faster. Improving these services will help keep the unemployed on their feet and moving towards new opportunities.

Overall, economic development measures passed during the 2003 legislative session will go a long way to move Indiana's economy into the 21st Century while helping Hoosiers affected by the soft economy to find jobs and support their families.

Is the state holding your unclaimed property?

According to state law, any property left unclaimed by the rightful owner is turned over to the State Attorney General's office. Everything from bonds and unpaid wages to estate proceeds have been turned over to the state. Check with the Attorney General's Unclaimed Property Division to see if you have property owed to you:

Broden initiatives become law

I am pleased to report that many of the bills I authored or sponsored were approved during the 2003 General Assembly and have become law. A few of these initiatives include:

✍ SEA 247 changes the drug court program established in 2002 by the General Assembly. The new law allows courts that do not have drug court programs to refer offenders to other courts in the same county which could provide the specific disposition allowed in drug courts. This primarily applies to city courts in counties that are part of the drug court program. It also provides more explicit directions to drug courts to ensure that cases are disposed of properly. Individuals participating in a drug court program may have a judgment of conviction entered against them if the participation is terminated unsuccessfully. If an individual fulfills the conditions established by the drug court, the drug court must dismiss the charges against the person or refer the case back to the originating court so that charges can be dismissed.

✍ SEA 286 requires sex offenders to submit a new registration form with the local law enforcement authority after moving. Currently, sex offenders must register with their town chief of police or county sheriff. After the initial registration, the offender must inform the local law enforcement authority of their new address within seven days, but no penalties are imposed if a sex offender does not re-register after moving. It is a Class D felony if the offender fails to re-register.

✍ SEA 320 strengthens Indiana laws against identity theft and authorizes courts to issue orders to correct the credit records of Hoosiers who have been the victims of identity theft.

✍ HEA 1131 requires the initial health care practitioner or hospital administrator who treats a person for an injury that results from fireworks or pyrotechnics to report the injury to the State Department of Health.

Senator Broden co-authored legislation that will help victims of identity theft correct their accounts and records more easily.

Groundbreaking long-term care legislation gives patients new options for independence

Legislators this year approved groundbreaking legislation which will dramatically change the way tax dollars are spent on services for elderly and disabled Hoosiers. Senate Enrolled Act (SEA) 493, which I co-authored, is designed to give individuals a range of services to choose from to best meet their changing needs.

This progressive legislation is expected to produce significant financial savings for Hoosier taxpayers because resources will be used more wisely. This is done through encouraging the use of alternatives to nursing homes, such as home-based services and assisted living facilities, which are typically less costly and allow for more patient independence.

The bill also contains provisions to support family care givers, many of whom care for their loved ones at home. All too often, care givers experience “burnout,” prompting them to place their loved ones in a nursing home or some other institutional setting. SEA 493 establishes an assistance program to provide training, counseling, and support to family members who care for a loved one.

Ultimately, this legislation should save taxpayer dollars by enabling more Hoosiers to receive care in their homes instead of more expensive settings, such as nursing homes. Next to the budget, this could be the most important bill approved this session.

The design of the legislation was a collaborative effort by legislators, home health care agencies, senior citizen groups, Indiana’s area agencies on aging (AAAs), and the nursing home industry.
